Description / Abstract

This toolkit is a compilation of important material on creating inclusive youth participation. Inclusive youth participation is more than just youth engagement— inclusive participation entails treating youth as equal and important partners in driving change. The toolkit will guide the reader in creating inclusive youth participation by outlining important theory but also practical material and case studies that prove that youth can be a powerful force in achieving Agenda 2030. The toolkit starts by providing detail on the current youth demographic with youth-related data from around the world—explaining the importance of the youth demographic. The following chapters, 2 and 3, focus on strengthening inclusive youth participation and viewing youth as rights holders. The chapters look at building with youth and techniques and practices towards creating inclusive youth participation. Finally, the toolkit provides case studies on youth participation worldwide, illustrating the potential impact youth can have when allowed to participate in an inclusive way.
